Their Rights.

The Secessionists and their sympathizers complain about the abridgment of their rights. Men are entitled to their opinione. and the free expression of them: of course

But there may be a great difference as to what are opinions. A man with a musket in his hands might give you his opinion that he ought to shoot you. He could not complain if you showed him a pistol and threatened to blow his brains out. Such differences of opinion are not allowable, notwithstanding the constitutional freedom of thought and opinion. You might wrest the musket from the hands of a man who indulged in such freedom of thought, although a man has a constitutional right to

The Government is bound to protect the citizen in his constitutional rights; but then the citizen is bound to support the Government. If he undertakes to destroy it, it is not bound to protect him. These Southern Rights men entertain us about Lincoln's violation of the Constitution. Lincoln, however, has rights, as President of the United States, more important for the good of the country than the rights of one individual. These two rights come in conflict: both can't exist together some times, and which shall prevail? If a man wishes his rights respected, let him respect the rights of other people. If he assails the rights of other people, his own may get in peril, and he has no one to blame but himself.

When a rebellion starts against a govern ment all rights are at hazard; for the government itself is assailed. How can it guaranty rights when its power is restrained? It must save itself, or all the rights it is established to protect must take their where they made diligent search for Mr. D. this country, under the Constitution, depend on the power to preserve the Government under that Constitution.

To insure one right guarantied to an individual is weil, if it be possible; but if it can't be done by the government without any in the State. How long will retribution eacrificing itself, it will not be done. To sacrifice this whole Government for the sake of securing one guarantied right, is impossible. However important such a right may be, it is absurd to expect it shall stand in therway of the salvation of a country. The abstract right may be conceded, but in such circumstances it never was preserved, and Greeley, the Buil Run General, does not shout onward to Richmond these times. but he is engaged in a still more pestilent course. He says this is a rebelion got up for slavery; that none but those in the slave interest are in the rebellion. In short, professions of love for their sister States, as slavery is the cause of the rebellion, and to end it slavery must be crushed out. He would have come nearer the mark if he had said auti-slavery was the cause; for if it had not been for Abelitionism the ambitious demagogues of the South could never have turned a wheel in this rebellion. Such fellows as Greeley have furnished the mate rial to these demagagues, far more important to them than arms and ammunition. An unhallowed ambition was the cause of this rebellion. It is just the same cause that came near producing a rebellion in New England in 1814. Her politicians were out of favor-couldn't be Presidents, foreign ministers, &c .- and they made use of the chipping interest of New England, damaged by the war, to stir up secession from the Federal Government. There was no other cause for this rebellion. Nobody had suffered under the Federal Government; it hal wronged nebody. Greeley, in these effusions, is damaging the cause, and his paper, in justice to the friends of the Union, ought to be suppressed as incendiary and helping the enemy.

MORE OF THE SCOUNDREL BUCKNER .- A gentleman who lives in one of the invaded counties writes: "I and nearly all my neighbors are in Camp Andy Johnson. We are determined to beat back the invaders. I left home yesterday, Ostober 7th, and last night a company of Secessionists came to my house and broke it open; broke open trunks, closets, &c; stole bed clothes and sundries; they also stole a very fine horse belonging to G. The Secessionists have felt so deep Southern States that they couldn't take up arms against them in any emergency. It seems, however, that they can run off to the Confederate States and take up arms against the hearthstones of Kentucky. Letter from Camp Sherman.

CAMP SHERMAN, Oct. 10, 1861.

MESSRS. HARNET, HUGHES & Co.: Gentlemen: Yesterday your correspondent had the pleasure of again appearing on the Fair Grounds, and seeing the fine body of troops encamped there. After passing through Camp Sherman, through the kindness of Lieutenant Forman and others, we saw the drill of the cavalry regiment of Colonel Bayles. They number about four hundred men, all told, in companies, and parts of companies, and are, all of them, choice and efficient men, and remarkably well drilled. Every foot strikes the ground at once, with the regularity of the tick of a clock, and the breast is thrown forward, the arms falling easily and naturally to the side. It is the opinion of Yours, that Col grizzly-bearded Colonel and his gallant Cap tains do not lead men where they ought to epinion to the centrary. Yours again passed the lines, entering

Why have they chosen such a cap? It is neither ornamental nor useful. In winter, which is coming upon us, the soldiers will have to buy fur caps, to protect themselves at night when on guard-in summer it does not shade the eyes or protect the face from the sun. An uglier cap was never seen-a cap that was of less use was never known; and if the whole tribe of Generals, from Scott and McClellan down to the most incompetent, were to assert the contrary, your correspondent would protest

PARAMARIBO, DUTCH GUINEA, ?

There has been quite an excitement here, casioned by the arrival at this port of the pirate steamer Sumpter. She came in here on the 19th of August, being in want of coal and other supplies. The moment she came in, our United States Consul, Henry Sawyer, Esq., went at once to the Governor, and protested in the name of the United States quested the Government to drive her out of port; but they would not do it, and, furthermore, allowed her to take in coal; but they sul found the Gevernor was about to allow own hook, and tried his best to stop them and partially succeeded. He hald a nan to and partially succeeded. He laid a plan to de an her as long as possible, as it was reported that our steamers were out after ner.

Dispatches were at once sent off by the Consul to all the United States Consuls in the West Indies, by the mail which left the same day that the Sumpter arrived, notifying then that if any of our men-cfwar vessels wer'e at their posts to make them hurry up, as the Sumpter would lie here some time. (Then intention was to have icft in three days, promuing they could get coal on board). Then our Yaukee Consul went in to win. He first bired all the punts and lighters he could get hold of, as they must load everything in that manner Then he went to the coal dealers and offered to purchase their coal, and succeeded with all but one. He tried hard to prevent this one, who had sold to the Captain (Simmes) of the Sumpter before he got his letter. He was an Englishman, named Wright, and a very wealthy planter. So far, so good! Now for them to get this coal on board; the Consul had all the punts and lighters. They began by boats and flats, and worked all day and night, and only got on board one hundred and eighty tuns (he wanted four hundred).

The mail came in and brought news that the Keystone State was at Barbadoes on the 21st of July, in search of him. Then they began to hurry some. Finally, they got hold of a punt that the Consul had already hired, and would not give it np. He (the Consul) sent to take it one night, when up jumped half a dozen of the Sumter's men, with revolvers, and swore that the punt should not leave their hands until the coal was all on board. The anthorities would not meddle with the affair, and they finished coaling on the 31st and put to sea.

The amount of the whole story is that the authorities are afraid of the Sumter, as she had rnn by the forts, and could command the town with her guns. The deserters say that nearly all the crew are Northern men with northern principles, but were driven to enlist by actual starvation, in New Orleans, as there was nothing to eat and noth ing to do. They also say that the en-since of the Sumter can not be run but a few hours, as it heats so, and it the Brook-lyn kept after her a short time they would have been overhauled. Defore coming out they took away all the oil and the lamps from the lighthouse. There is a small bay they send their prizes; it is very shallow water. Louisville Conference M. E. C., South. SECOND DAY.

The Conference convened at 9 o'clock, Bishop Kavanaugh presiding. Divine services were conducted by Rev. Wm. Holman. Several distinguished ministers from other conferences and other denominations were present, and a very large general audience of ladies and gentlemen.

The examination of the character of preachers was continued, and occupied the larger part of the forenoon. This examination was carefully and thoroughly made, and not a little complimentary to those represented. This is considered one of the gnards of the Church, contributing largely to the purity and efficiency of the ministry

W. W. Lambette was located at his own request, and the following placed on the list of superannuated preachers, viz: Geo. W. Taylor, Richard Tydings, A. Moore and town: Alex McCown.

Several reports were presented and read -some of them of more than ordinary interest. Among them, we noticed particularly the exhibits of the Book Concerns at Nashville and in this city. The two agents, J. B. McFerrin, Nashville, and A. H. Red. ford, Louisville, had discharged the du ies assigned to them, and taken care of the interests confided to them in a manner very satisfactory to the Conference.

A scouting party of the Maysville Home Guards, a few nights ago took possession of thir:y-five horses, belonging to a secessionist named McKrell, near Mayslick, who was reported to be about starting to the South with the horses. McKrell disappeared. The precinct of Sardis, in Mascn county, has already raised one company and will soon have another in the field. The Maysville Eagle, of the 8th, has the following particulars of the affair at Kenton-

On last Thursday night a squad of soldiers belonging to Capt. Gault's company received orders to proceed to Kentontown, in Harrison county, and arrest one Vanhook, a desperate and violent secessionist of that place. Vanhook's house had been the place of rendezvous for Cameron's secession company which recently left Kentontown to join Zollicoffer, and he had contributed material aid besides inducing a number of men to enter the Confederate service. Gault and his men reached Vanhook's house about daylight and surrounded it, shortly after Gault informed him that he had a warrant for his arrest, and had come to execute it, and :hat he must yield himself a prisoner. Vanhook ran back into the horse, reappeared with a gun, with which he fired upon the second Lieutenant of the company, young Griffith, inflicting a wound completely riddling Vanhock's body, and killing him instantly. Several other shots were fired from the house, none of which took effect, and several men who were stay-

As the afternoon train on the Little Miama R. R was approaching the Duffield station, Wednesday afternoon, at the rate of thirty five miles an hour, the engineer discovered a rail placed obliquely across the track, and instantly whistled down brakes. The engine striking the rail, was thrown from the track down a steep embankment. In the train were two baggage and four passenger cars, and their escape from entire destruction is looked upon as providential The Commercial of yesterday gives the fellowing particulars:

The engine was wrenched from the rest of the train, which rushed on, the forward trucks of the second car being off the track. A few rods ahead, in crossing a cattle guard, the hinder trucks of the last car but one, which here left the track or was off before, started off down the embankment on their own hook. Fortunately a pile of ties obstructing the way, stopped the car, and which Vanhook appeared at the door. Capt. burst through its side and still kept its upright position.

Strange to say, not a passenger in the cars was injured. A lady and a gentleman mile post. But in the latter half of the sitting opposite the fracture were thrown heat Ella becan to show Bettie her heels. across the car, without the slightest injury. A boy who distributes the morning papers to subscribers on the line-Edward Kohn by name—was thrown from the engine and wounded in the leg. A station hand, Thomas Nolan, unable to get out of the way, was struck by the engine and bruised in the face and forehead, but was able to be moved comfortably in a short time, and will doubtless recover. Another hand, Richard Mitchell, had his right arm broken. It was a simple fracture, above the eibow, and was

The six runners at the first heat started in a bunch, but Buford's Mansfield having gone with a run, taking the lead at the quarter. move with a large force and seize Maysville. The others, although going at a good speed, evidently did not play for the heat, and Buford kept it throughout. The first half was run in 52½, and the heat in 1:46½.

In the second heat Betty Ward took the start, resigning it without a struggle to Buford's colt, who, with Richards' Target, appeared to play for the heat, Betie endeavorthis morning. The correspondent of the ing to keep Ella D within sight. At the outcome Richards' Target was ahead, and Buford having fallen back, Bettie Ward came ading was heard yesterday in the direction in second, and Ella D third, but Target was ruled out for foul riding, and the heat dean engagement has taken place at that clared in favor of Bettie Ward. The first half was won by Buford and Target in 51 eesocds.

After several false starts, Buford, Reporter and Mamona in one instance going all the way round, a start was had, but of even a worse character than any of the others. Buford did not cross the line, and Mamona was pulled in after the tap; while Ella D, Reporter, $15 ADVANCE and Bettie Ward shot off at a rapid pace At a late hour Mamona was put to work to Kentucky, and the Commercial thinks Capt. close a gap of fifty yards or more, but the effort was made too late. The animals up to this time were in fine condition, and a spirited heat was expected. At the start for the fourth Bettie Ward was thrown behind, while Ella D and Reporter made for the heat. Bettie attempted to close the gap which a bad start had placed between her and Ella D, and gallantly contested the heat. At the half mile Ella D left Reporter in the rear, and behind the hill Bettie also passed him, and down the home stretch they came, Bettie pushing Ella D, but losing the heat by a head.

From this time Ella D had it all her own way. Bettie Ward had lost the race in uncoupled it from the four forward ones, playing for the fourth heat. LEXINGTON, Mo., Oct. 9.—The correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes

The plan of General Price after he captured Lexington was to remain for a short time, and to operate on the north side of the river. And for this purpose, on Satur-day, the 28th of Sempter, he orossed over the river at Lexington with 4,000 mounted men, and this force took up their line of ......The Major Anderson, Capt. Jones, who had been released as a prisoner at the arsenal, where he had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States Government, returned from St. Louis to Lexington, and reported that the whole country below was alive with troops, that Fremont was after Price, and that Price might prepare for a big fight in a few days. Price's men were courageous, and said: "Let Fremont come-they were ready for him." when Jones announced that Fremont had 30,000 men, and his only fear was that Price would not make a stand, the latter countermanded his order for sending troops, and a messenger was immediately despatched after those already started, and they recrossed the river Sunday evening. That night Price made his order for a movement south, and General Rains, it is said, went 20 miles that night on his southern route, and it is believed Governor Jackson availed himself of this command as an escort to Pay Lear.

From Yesterday's "Evening News."

Washington, Oct. 9 .- Lewinsville will be retained, as well as the other positions taken by our forces to-day. A portion of the troops under Brigadier General Porter also advanced and occupied Minor's hill, to the right of Fall's church, and commanding that village and Barrett's hill, which latter is now in possession of the rebel pickets. McClellan and staff, accompanied by Capt. Barker's dragoons, crossed over the chain bridge at an early hour this morning, spending the whole day in making reconoisances of the new positions taken by the Federal troops.

About five o'clock yesterday, Captain Barney, of the Twenty fourth New York regiment, went three miles beyond Fall's Chuch, on the Leesburg turnpike, with ten men, where he surprised a picket guard of eight of Colonel Stewart's cavalry; three of them were killed and one taken prisoner. They also captured five horses equipped, thirteen navy pistols, four sabers, one carbine, and one telescope. The horse killed was a white one, which has been often run by our pick-ets, and is believed to belong to Captain R Stewart's cavalry.

The capture took place within half a mile of the enemy's encampment.

No official returns are obtainable, but the impression is, that the People's ticket has a majority in the Philadelphia camps.

Tribune's Dispatch .- There is reason to behave in the report from New Orleans via Richmond announcing the presence of national vessels at the head passes of the Mississippi. They are, doubtlessly, acting under instructions given long since and engaged in protecting the men building batteries on each side of the river, above the point where the five mouths divide, for he purpose of effectually blockading them All the guns to be mounted are probably the twenty eight nine-inch Dahlgren, which were ordered for Pickens, and, not being required, they were put ashore at Tortugas. The Mississippi will be effectually closed by these batteries. Twenty vessels could

Five Colonels stand ready to command five regiments of Illinois cavalry to be raised, of which acceptance is pressed upon the War Department by Governor Yates and others. The Department is willing to accept one, and the others as infantry. The cavalry regiment of Col. Barrett is accepted to serve on the Indiana frontier. The present condition and appearance of St. Louis must be disheartening, to judge by the following, which we cut from the St. Louis correspondence of the Chicago

The wholesale merchants on Main street are doing nothing, scarcely enough to pay expenses; while the retail dealers on Fourth street sit idling in their doors and letting the grass grow under their feet, with the exception of a few dealers in military goods, who are temporarily reaping a harvest. On the levee the long line of steamers tied up show the decrease in the river trade, and no boats are plying the waters of the Missis-sippi save the Cairo mail packets and the Government steamers. From Louisville to Memphis and from Memphis to New Orleans an incubus seems to rest on this great channel of mercantile communication, and far down its widening current, where it min-gles its waters with the Gulf of Mexico, a squadron of war vessels, Argus eyed, watches faithfully the blookade, permitting

no ingress er egress
Important channels of trade are thus cut off from the Mound City manufactories, which in prosperous times employed hun-dreds of mechanics. Many of the pri-vate residences are closed, the occupants gone, whither no one knows. Large blocks of elegant buildings in a partly unfinished state, speak sadly of desolation and the stagnation of all that was vital in this once flourishing city. The hotels are but meagerly filled, and their guests principally military men or persons on business for the Government. One large hotel, the Lindal House, situated on Washington avenue, a magnificent building, perhaps the most elegant carravansery in the West, lies idle, the risk of taking it in these times would be immense. The unfinished walls of another magnificent hotel on Fifth street, mark the gradual decline of the city.

A YOUTHFUL SCLDIER .- Eddy Black, son of George H. Black, of this city, is supposed to be the smallest and yourgest, not the bravest, soldier in the service of the United States of the Indiana troops. When he enlisted he was but 8 years of age, but he exhibited such a spirit of patriotism and so strong a desire to serve his country that he over persuaded his parents to let him go. He enlisted in the 21st regiment, Col. go. He enlisted in the 21st regiment, McMillan, now stationed near Baltimore, where he now is, and so attached is he to furlough at the earcest request of his mother, telling her that he had too much work to attend to. He forwarded his two months' pay and what he had accumulated from those who voluntarily gave him in admiration of his character, amounting, in all, to sixty dollars, which is now invested in treatury notes. An army of such Lillipas would soon overcome oven the fiery ardor of the chivalry. He is a drummer boy. Just as he was leaving with the regiment, an elderly gentleman spoke to the little fellow and said, "My lad, do you know what you are going to do?" "Yes, sir," was his prompt reply, "I am going to beat the drum while the soldiers are fighting for their country." The man shed tears, and said to him, "If you return alive, come to my house and I will give you a horse; I have plenty of them." Etdy intends to hold him to his offer.—Indiana Journal.

A SAD STORY .- For several days past an old man of bronzed features and weatherbeaten aspect, has attracted the notice of people on the dock in the vicinity of the freight depots, by his singular actions. He will stand for hours looking off towards the lake, holding in his hand, high above his head, a piece of paper, or a fragment of a oroom, with which he appears to be making signals. Unheeding the stares of passers by, or the jeers of thoughtless boys who gather around him, there he will stand patiently waving his signal and gazing intently far out upon the lake, muttering in-otherently to himself meanwhile. A sailor who knows the old man. gave us, this morning, an inkling to his history.

He was a ficherman on Lake Michigan, and reared his children, four sons, to the same calling. In a great storm which swept that lake four years ago this fall, his sons were all lost with their boat. The father, with the prophetic vision of an old fisher. man, saw that a great storm was coming and his boys were cut on the lake. high position on shore he attempted to signal them to return, but the storm, which came on with the sudderness and rapidity often remarked on Lake Michigan, overtock them before they could reach harbor, the boat capsized in the gale, and the frantic father saw his four sons, the stay of his old age, perish among the angry waves and powerless to help them. His mind never recovered from the shock. He clings to the vicinity of the lakes and is almost constantly occupied in watching the waters and making imaginary signals to his sons When there is a storm on the lake his agi tation is very great, but at other times he is possessed with a quiet and harmless mel-Part of his force is now at Elk ancholy painful to behold. Its price at present is at least three fifth Wool being dull in England, large orders have recently been sent there for shipments. present price sustained. Woolen mills in Philadelphia and environs are working almost entirely upon Government account. Indigo is another article that has much riscn lately in price, owing to the heavy demand for dyeing blue army cloth.

JUST CONDEMNATION .- The Boston Post Island, about twelve miles from the scene says: "There is no denunciation of Charles Sumner's abolition speech more severe than that which is dealt upon it by Republicans. exertions to augment the strength of our Anybody can hear it at the hands of the patriotic portion of the party in the shops and at the corners of the streets. The Newburyport Herald (Rep ) has hit the nail on the head. 'We don't know,' it says, 'how few shots with the Pig Point battery, it appears to others, but it seems to us that Several shells explicated near Ler, but did if Jeff Davis had liberty to send his own agent here to do the worst for us, he could have done nothing more."

"I Don't SEE It."-Lord Nelson was undoubtedly the author of this popular slang phrase. At the celebrated naval battle of Copenhagen, Nelson, who was determined continue the fight, but whose attention had been called to a signal of the commanding officer to cease hostilities, placed his hand over his good eye, and pretending to look with his blind one, said, "I don't see i," and at once ordered a brisk renewal of the engagement.

Four-story shirt collars are now all the rage in New York. The Home Journal man says he saw one the other day with a steeple to it. It is believed that short-necked people, in order to keep pace with the spirit of improvement, will have to get their ears moved up a little higher.

I can recommend Mrs. Limtbangh's Compened Sympol Spikenard and Tar I have beneick for a long time, have had several doctors, and they failed in my case. I was ver, much swollen, and had a severe cough. After using your medicine a while, I was cored of my coush and relieved of my swelling. My complexion is good, and now I am dolog my own work. My youngest child had a ball cough for a long time, so severe that her breast-bone was spring, from severe coughing, in the shape of a cricken bone but she is now weil and looks well. She had been treated by the doctors for a long time, but they all failed to cure her cough. Now she is well.

I will ever remain your friend.

Mrs. JULIA WILLS.

LOUISVILLE, Angust 6, 1881.

Mrs L. LIMEBAUGH: Madane-I have used your Compand Sympin my own case of steep eated bronchial nearsoness, with which I have been afficied or upwards nearsoness, with which I have been intered or upwalms of twenty years, and am satisfied, after having taken three bottles, that it is an admirable compount for the relief of Jaryngeal and bronchial infinites; for the three bottles I have used have relieved me more than anything I have taken, and I kink it will cure me effectually it I continue to hee it. If my opinion as its superior character can be of any scribe, you are at superior character too be superior character to use it as you think proper.
REV. ELIJAH GUTTON.

Mrs. L Limeabaudh: I have used your Compon Sying in my own case of deer-seated count, and fon it relieved me very much, and can recommend it any one that is troubled with a cough.

THESE "PILLS" NEVER FAIL TO CURBALL OF the above-named Fevers, and what is better, they loc AOT AS A PREVENTIVE, if taken occasionally, really, while exposed to the infection. Hence the old dage, "As some of presenties is worth a pound of ours." Dr. Merwin's "Fever and Ague Pills" differ from all ther Ohill Mediclaes, in the loudwing particulars: 1st. They never fail to perform a speedy and permanent core. 2d. They are recommended only for on class of dis-asses:

3. They are agreeable and convenient to take.
4th. They contain no polyanous minerals, being pureyvegetable.
a. They do not impair the organic functions of the tomach or any part of the system.
6th. They require no other modicine to prepare the ystem for their reception, o afterwards to allay irritation.
